

Programming phase

This includes investigation of available facilities and determination of mission training requirements for different services and will conclude with a utilization plan for required facilities that could be developed in several different arrangements

1 Investigate other homeland security training centers and planning efforts

2 Search for alliances with Universities, Colleges and other academic institutions

3 Determine needed training facilities and projected usage at the MMR

4 Create a human resources plan including trainees, staff and adjunct instructors

5 Recommend a utilization plan for the facilities
